TIM SCHUETZLE – CLASS OF 1972

Tim's time at New Ulm High School nurtured his lifelong love of learning, music and sports. His career path in life took him from being a science teacher in Danube, MN to warden and Prisons Division Director for North Dakota, including Warden of the Year in 1997-1998, to a criminal justice teacher and associate professor at the University of Mary in Bismarck, ND. While he was warden Tim worked endlessly to change the prison system by creating a safe environment that helped address the underlying issues that caused the inmates to be incarcerated in the first place. His work was instrumental in North Dakota having one of the lowest recidivism rates in the country. While his career included many long days, he still found time to give back to various organizations through volunteering and continues to do so today.
